Here are 10 tips to get you started

1. To buy a policy, you have to meet our eligibility criteria, including starting and ending your trip in Australia. We will ask you some questions as you are getting your quote to make sure this policy is suitable for your trip. We explain this criteria further in 'Eligibility for cover' on page 16.
2. When you tell us about your trip and get your quote, you will be able to choose your Plan and Optional Extras to create a policy that suits you. You can find a summary of what is covered and limits that apply to each Plan on page 6, and details of the Optional Extras on page 10. Your Certificate of Insurance will show whether you've purchased any Optional Extras.
3. There are things that we do not cover. You will find the exclusions that apply to specific benefits in the section 'Details of what we cover' from page 27, and the general exclusions that apply to any cover under this policy from page 65.
4. If any adult travellers or their dependants have any pre-existing medical conditions or are pregnant, it is important you read from page 20 to understand what you are and are not covered for.
5. If you have an emergency while you are on your trip, you should call our Emergency Assistance team at +61 2 8294 7772, to get immediate support. They're available 24/7.
6. If something happens and you need to make a claim, it is quick and easy to do. For more details about making a claim, like how we calculate claims payments, check out 'How travel claims work' from page 76.
7. There are words in this document that have special definitions when we use them like 'pre-existing medical condition' and 'adult traveller'. You can find a list of these definitions from page 70, or just click 'Definitions' at the bottom of any page.
8. When applying for the policy, you must take reasonable care to answer each question we ask you honestly and accurately. This is a legal duty you have called the 'Duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation', and it can affect your insurance cover if it is not met. We explain more about this duty on page 82.

9. Once you have paid your premium and purchased a policy, we have entered into a contract that consists of:

- this Combined FSG and PDS; and
- the most recent Certificate of Insurance we send you.

Please make sure you take the time to read through these documents and keep them in a safe place, so you can refer to them if you need to. You can find an extra copy of this Combined FSG and PDS at huddleinsurance.com/au.

10. Before you depart on your trip, please make sure you check the latest government advice for your destination at smartraveller.gov.au and our travel alerts at huddleinsurance.com/au/travel-alerts. If there is a travel alert or a travel restriction for your destination, this may affect your cover depending on when you purchased your policy, and when you plan to leave for your trip. For details, please see our travel alert webpage and the general exclusion on page 69 relating to 'Travel alerts and other warnings'.

Summary of Huddle International Single-Trip Travel Insurance

An overview of our Plans

The table below summarises the claimable benefits in each of our Plans, and the maximum total amounts we will pay for all and any claims made under each benefit.

These benefit limits apply per adult traveller, except for the limit under Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses which applies per policy (in other words, it's the maximum amount we'll pay for that benefit under the policy, in total).

The limits are not increased for any dependants listed on your Certificate of Insurance. This means dependants share the limits with the adult travellers they are travelling with. We explain how this works on page 17.

Terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits apply. Please refer to 'Your policy benefits' starting from page 27, and 'General exclusions' starting from page 65, for further details.

* Sub-limits apply. Please refer to the policy benefits starting from on page 27 for details.

~ The term 'Unlimited' means there is no capped dollar sum insured. Terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits apply. Please refer to 'Your policy benefits' starting from page 27, and 'General exclusions' starting from page 65, for details.

There is no cover under Benefit 4: Permanent disability and Benefit 15: Personal liability for any claims arising from participation in any of the activities listed under the Adventure Pack, the Motorcycle/Moped Pack or the Snow Pack.

Excesses

An excess is the amount we will deduct from any amount payable under your policy, for each claimable incident or event.

If you are claiming for more than one event, an excess will apply to each event unless there is no excess specified on a particular benefit. For example, if you need to book an additional night at a hotel because your flight is delayed due to a strike, and then you need to return home early because your brother is hospitalised due to an unexpected sickness, two excesses will apply as these are two different claim events.

But, if you are claiming for just one event under multiple benefits, only one excess will apply unless there is no excess specified on a particular benefit.

Some benefits under the policy are not subject to deduction or payment of an excess. This will be specified in the benefit wording, and are listed below.

Your basic excess

Your policy has a basic excess which is shown on your Certificate of Insurance.

If your claim is payable, we will deduct the basic excess from the amount of the claim we will pay to you, unless we say otherwise under the relevant benefit.

A basic excess applies to all events causing a claim, except where the claim is payable under any of the following benefits:

- Benefit 2: Hospital cash allowance
- Benefit 8: Travel delay expenses
- Benefit 11: Delayed luggage and personal belongings
- Benefit 13: Theft of cash
- Benefit 16.2: Cabin confinement
- Benefit 17.4: Piste closure

Other excesses

If you have bought the Snow Pack, an additional excess of $500 plus your basic excess applies to any claims made under:

- Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses; or
- Benefit 7: Additional expenses,

which arise from or are in any way connected with you participating in snow sport activities.

See page 10 for details on these Optional Extras.

How Optional Extras work

By purchasing Optional Extras for your policy, you can add additional or extended cover to the Plan you choose. Different Optional Extras may be available based on the Plan you have chosen.

Cover under an Optional Extra only applies if you have added it to your policy, paid the extra premium and it is shown on your Certificate of Insurance.

With our Optional Extras, you can:

- include cover for additional activities you might be taking part in by buying an optional Adventure Pack, Cruise Pack, Snow Pack or the Motorcycle/Moped Pack; and
- increase the sub-limits for certain items that apply to luggage and personal belongings by adding the optional Valuables Pack.

This section provides full details of what is and what is not covered under the Motorcycle/Moped Pack and Valuables Pack, while only a summary of cover is provided for the Adventure Pack, Cruise Pack and Snow Pack.

The full set of conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits apply, and you will find the details starting from page 27.

Adventure Pack

If you are participating in more adventurous pursuits during your overseas trip, the Adventure Pack may be added to your policy, to cover you for participating in the following additional activities only:

Additional activities that are covered under the Adventure Pack:

- abseiling;
- animal conservation and handling (both under appropriate supervision);
- cave and river tubing;
- caving and potholing;
- contact team sports including any form of rugby, Australian Rules football or American football;

- flying fox and zip lining;

- sailing from over 10 but up to 15 nautical miles from land;
- shooting moving targets such as clay pigeons, but not any type of hunting; and
- surface water activities in rivers or rapids graded IV or V under the International Scale of River Difficulty.

For each of these activities, there is no cover where you are participating in a race, competition or as a professional.

If an activity is not specified in the list of activities covered under the Adventure Pack, there is no cover for any claims that arise from participation in this activity.

Adding the Adventure Pack extends cover under the benefits of your policy to include claims that arise from participating in these specific activities when overseas, except it does not extend cover for claims made under Benefit 4: Permanent disability and Benefit 15: Personal liability.

You must be aged 75 years or under when your policy is purchased to buy this Optional Extra pack.

The terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits under each benefit and the general exclusions apply.

Cruise Pack

The Cruise Pack is available on Black Comprehensive Plans only, and provides cover if you are heading on an overnight or multi-night sea or ocean cruise to an overseas destination, while you are on your trip. You will not need to add the Cruise Pack if your cruise is a river cruise, as this activity is automatically covered by the policy under 'Activities you are covered for automatically', on pages 9-10. For more information on what we mean by 'cruise' or 'cruising', please refer to 'Definitions', starting from page 70.

To be covered for any claims that arise from or are connected with an overnight or multi-night sea or ocean cruise overseas, you must add the Cruise Pack. Buying the Cruise Pack extends the cover under this policy's benefits for claims arising from your cruise and adds some additional cruise-related benefits. If you are cruising overseas or heading to an overseas destination on a cruise while you are on your trip and have not bought the Cruise Pack, there will be no cover under any benefit of the policy for cruising.

The table below summarises the additional benefits that apply to the optional Cruise Pack and the maximum amount we will pay for all claims under each of those additional benefits. These limits apply per adult traveller, and are not increased for any dependants travelling with you.

If you have dependants travelling with you who are listed on your Certificate of Insurance, the benefit limits will still apply per adult traveller.

For full details of the cover provided, see Cruise Pack under 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras', starting from page 50.

The terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits under each benefit and the general exclusions apply.

Benefit 16: Cruise Pack		Benefit limit per adult traveller
16.1	Emergency medical cover while cruising including ship to shore evacuation cover	Unlimited*~
16.2	Cabin confinement	$500*
16.3	Missed shore excursions	$1,000

* Sub-limits apply. Please refer to 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras', starting from page 50 for details.

~ Where used, the term 'Unlimited' means there is no capped dollar sum insured. Terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits apply. Please refer to 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras' starting from page 50, and 'General exclusions', starting from page 65.

Snow Pack

If you want cover for participating in snow sport activities while you are overseas, you will need to add the optional Snow Pack. For more information on what we mean by 'snow sport activities', please refer to the 'Definitions' starting from page 70. The Snow Pack can only be added under certain Plans.

Definitions

Adding the Snow Pack extends your cover under your policy to include claims that arise because of your participation in a snow sport activity including skiing or snowboarding, except for cover under Benefit 4: Permanent disability and Benefit 15: Personal liability. The Snow Pack also provides cover for additional snow-related benefits which are explained below.

You must be aged 75 years or under when your policy is purchased to buy this Optional Extra pack.

Your basic excess plus an additional excess of $500 applies to any claims made under:

- Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses; or
- Benefit 7: Additional expenses,

which arise from or are in any way connected with you participating in snow sport activities.

There is no cover under this policy, even if you have purchased the Snow Pack, for claims arising from or in any way connected to:

- any form of racing, acrobatics, jumping, stunting, aerial or freestyle activities, or competing in a professional capacity; or
- participating in snow sport activities that involve you going off-piste or back-country.

The table below summarises the additional benefits that apply to the optional Snow Pack and the maximum amount we will pay for all claims under each of those additional benefits, per adult traveller. If you have dependants travelling with you who are listed on your Certificate of Insurance, the benefit limits are not increased for dependants, but will still apply per adult traveller.

For full details of the cover provided, see Snow Pack under 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras', starting from page 50.

The terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits under each benefit and the general exclusions apply.

Benefit 17: Snow Pack		Benefit limit (per adult traveller)
17.1	Emergency snow sport medical and repatriation	Unlimited*~
17.2	Cover for your own snow sport equipment	$2,000*
17.3	Snow sport equipment replacement hire	$2,000
17.4	Piste closure	$1,000

17.5	Prepaid snow costs	$1,000
17.6	Bad weather and avalanches	$500

* Sub-limits apply. Please refer to 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras' starting from page 50 for details.

~ Where used, the term 'Unlimited' means there is no capped dollar sum insured. Terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits apply. Please refer to 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras' starting from page 50, and 'General exclusions' starting from page 65.

Motorcycle/Moped Pack

If you are planning on riding a motorcycle or moped overseas on your trip and want cover for participating in those activities, you will need to purchase the optional Motorcycle/Moped Pack, available on Black Comprehensive and Standard Plans only.

Adding the Motorcycle/Moped Pack does not add another policy benefit, but it extends cover under your policy to include claims that arise because of participating in riding a motorcycle or moped overseas on your trip, except for cover under Benefit 4: Permanent disability and Benefit 15: Personal liability.

Cover is provided under this Optional Extra pack only if:

- the motorcycle or moped is motorised and its engine capacity is 250cc or less;
- while in control of the motorcycle or moped, you hold an Australian motorcycle rider's licence or an Australian motor vehicle driver's licence valid for that class of motorcycle or moped being ridden, and a licence valid for the country that the motorcycle or moped is being ridden in;
- while you are a passenger, the driver in control of the motorcycle or moped holds a licence valid for the country that the motorcycle or moped is being ridden in;
- you are wearing an appropriate safety helmet;
- you are not racing the motorcycle or moped; and
- you are not riding the motorcycle or moped in a professional capacity (for example, as a paid delivery driver).

You must be aged 75 years or under when your policy is purchased to buy this Optional Extra pack.

The terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits under each benefit and the general exclusions apply.

Valuables Pack

This policy automatically provides cover for luggage and personal belongings under Benefit 10: Luggage and personal belongings, up to the relevant limits and sub-limits for your Plan set out on page 42.

Depending on the Plan you choose, you may also be able to buy the optional Valuables Pack. Adding the Valuables Pack does not add another policy benefit, but it increases the sub-limits belonging to certain items under your Plan. You will have the opportunity to add the optional Valuables Pack and increase these sub-limits during the application process.

The total of the sub-limits that you can choose for all item types combined, is $7,000 per adult traveller.

If you have bought the optional Valuables Pack, it will be shown on your Certificate of Insurance, along with the new sub-limits for any specified items.

If you have bought the Valuables Pack and need to make a claim under Benefit 10: Luggage and personal belongings:

- all of the terms and exclusions set out under Benefit 10: Luggage and personal belongings still apply, which you can find here from page 42 onwards, except that depreciation will not be applied to those items covered under the Valuables Pack and listed on your Certificate of Insurance; and
- the maximum we will pay under Benefit 10: Luggage and personal belongings, for all claims combined under the policy, is the benefit limit shown in the table of benefits on page 42 for the Plan you have purchased.

As with any claim under Benefit 10: Luggage and personal belongings, you will need to provide reasonable proof of your ownership and the value of any item for which you make a claim. This might include things like receipts or valuation reports.

The terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits under each benefit and the general exclusions apply.

Eligibility for cover

Who we cover under this policy

You are eligible to purchase this policy if:

- you are an Australian citizen or a permanent resident of Australia, who holds a valid Australian Medicare card; or
- you are a temporary resident of Australia who:
 - holds a current Australian visa that will remain valid after your trip ends and allows you unrestricted right of entry into Australia, and which is not a tourist, study or working holiday visa; and
 - holds a valid Australian Medicare card or an Australian Private Health Insurance policy that satisfies the government health insurance requirements for your visa type; and
- you are aged no more than 80 years old; and
- you purchase this policy before you leave Australia to go on your trip; and
- you start and end your trip in Australia.

During the quote process, we will ask about you and any other people you want to add cover for on the policy, so that they can be included on the Certificate of Insurance. Only those people listed on your Certificate of Insurance will be covered under the policy.

If we decide that you are not eligible for cover, or if we cannot offer you the cover you are looking for, we will tell you the reasons for that decision and tell you where you can search for another insurer that may be able to help you. You can also make a complaint to us using the details set out here from page 84 onwards.

Children and grandchildren

Children can be added to the policy as dependants if they are travelling with the adult travellers for the entire trip and are aged 17 years or under when the policy is purchased. For more information about who we mean by 'child' or 'children', please refer to 'Definitions' starting from page 70.

We will ask about any children travelling on the trip when your policy is purchased so that they can be listed on your Certificate of Insurance. If any children are over the age of 17 when the policy is purchased, they must be added as an adult traveller or purchase a separate policy.

Dependant(s) listed on the Certificate of Insurance do not have their own benefit limits and sub-limits but share the limits with the adult travellers they are travelling with, except where dependant sub-limits are applicable under Benefit 3: Accidental death and Benefit 4: Permanent disability. An example of how this works under the policy is provided below.

Definitions

An example of how dependant limits are shared with an adult traveller on the policy:

Example 1:

Samantha and Robert are taking their dependant children, Thomas (aged 5) and Lucy (aged 17) on a holiday. Samantha buys an Essentials policy with a chosen basic excess of $200 to cover Robert, Thomas, Lucy and herself for a trip to South Africa. Thomas and Lucy will be travelling with Samantha and Robert for the entire trip and are listed as dependants on the policy.

Unfortunately, Samantha, Robert, Thomas and Lucy have some of their personal belongings stolen from their hotel room in South Africa, including Samantha's laptop, camera and drone, Robert's laptop and mobile phone, and Lucy's mobile phone. Under the Essentials policy, Samantha and Robert can individually claim up to $1,000 for each laptop and camera, up to $750 for each mobile phone, and up to $500 for each other stolen item, up to a maximum combined total of $2,500 per adult traveller under Benefit 10: Luggage and personal belongings, with Lucy sharing either Samantha's limit or Robert's limit under this benefit of the policy as their dependants. Samantha then makes a claim for these stolen items under the policy.

As Samantha and Robert's maximum benefit limit is $2,500 per adult traveller under the policy, with a $1,000 sub-limit for the stolen laptops and camera, a $750 sub-limit on the stolen mobile phones, and a $500 sub-limit for each of the other stolen items, after claiming each stolen item and providing necessary documents to us, Samantha and Robert are paid $4,800 which is calculated as follows:

- $1,000 for each of the stolen laptops, $1,000 for the stolen camera, $750 for each of the stolen mobile phones, and $500 for the stolen drone (totalling $5,000) minus
- $0 for depreciation, as in this example the stolen items were purchased less than 12 months ago minus
- $200 basic excess.

Example 2:

Mary is taking her dependant child, Jason (aged 16) on a holiday. Mary buys a Black Comprehensive policy to cover Jason and herself for a trip to Japan. Jason will be travelling with Mary for the entire trip and is listed as a dependant on Mary's policy.

During their trip, Mary and Jason's luggage is delayed by their carrier for more than 12 consecutive hours. Mary can claim up to $750 per adult traveller under Benefit 11: Delayed luggage and personal belongings for buying essential personal items like clothing and toiletries, with Jason sharing her limit under this benefit on the policy, as her dependant.

Mary decides to buy $750 of clothing and toiletries for herself and $200 of clothing for Jason. Mary then makes a claim for these expenses under the policy.

As Mary's maximum benefit limit is $750 under the policy, and no excess applies under Benefit 11: Delayed luggage and personal belongings, Mary will be reimbursed $750 only, as there is no remaining benefit to reimburse her for the clothing she bought for Jason.

Period of cover

When you are covered

Your Certificate of Insurance will list the issue date for your policy, your trip departure date and the return date that you have told us for your trip.

When does your cover start?

Your cover for Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses starts from the date that your policy is purchased, which will be listed on your Certificate of Insurance.

For all other benefits, your cover starts when you leave your home to begin your trip, but not before the trip departure date listed on your Certificate of Insurance.

When does your cover end?

Cover under this policy ends:

- when you return home; or
- on the return date listed on your Certificate of Insurance; or
- on the date you make a claim under Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses following the cancellation of the entire trip, whichever happens first, unless your policy is otherwise extended beforehand in writing by us.

Extending your policy

Extensions of cover due to claimable events under the policy

Definitions

We will extend your policy free of additional charge, subject to our written approval (which will not be unreasonably withheld or denied), if you find that your return home has been delayed due to a reason that you can claim for under your policy.

If you need to extend your policy for this reason, you can contact our 24/7 Emergency Assistance team for support. Their details are shown on page 1.

If written approval is provided by us, the cover provided under Benefit 3: Accidental death cannot be extended for any period more than 12 consecutive months from the departure date shown on your Certificate of Insurance.

The cover will also end when you return home or if after assessment of your claim, the reasonable medical advice is that you are medically fit to return to Australia, the cover will end on the date that we would have been able to reasonably facilitate your return to Australia.

Extensions of cover due to a change in your travel plans

If you are travelling for longer than originally planned, you can extend your policy online before the return date on your Certificate of Insurance, by updating your return date and paying the applicable additional premium. If your application to extend your policy is accepted, and the additional premium is paid, we will send you an updated Certificate of Insurance.

Cover cannot be extended, or any granted extension will not be effective:

- under Benefit 3: Accidental death for any period more than 12 consecutive months from the departure date shown on your Certificate of Insurance;
- where the period between your departure date shown on your Certificate of Insurance and your new return date will exceed 12 consecutive months; or
- if you are aged 81 years or more at the time you want to extend your policy.

Please note that, when you apply to extend your policy, you need to comply with your duty to answer honestly, which is summarised on page 82.

Making changes to your policy

In certain circumstances, we will agree to you making changes to your policy. You can make changes to your policy by logging in to your Huddle account at huddleinsurance.com/au or visiting huddleinsurance.com/au/help to arrange to speak to one of our friendly team members.

Destinations we cover

Definitions

Your Certificate of Insurance will list the destination(s) or countries you chose when you purchased your policy.

Your policy will not provide cover outside of the destination(s) or countries listed on your Certificate of Insurance, unless the transit time or stopover in another destination or country is less than 24 hours.

If your plans change while you are travelling

If you are on your trip and decide you want to explore a destination or country that is not listed on your Certificate of Insurance, you may be able to update the destination(s) or countries you have listed on your policy by logging into your Huddle account. If we agree to the amendment and you pay us any additional premium requested, we will send you an updated Certificate of Insurance.

Pre-existing medical conditions

Pre-existing medical conditions can affect the likelihood of you needing to cancel your holiday for health reasons or the likelihood of needing medical attention while you are on your trip.

They can even increase medical costs for unrelated incidents by complicating your medical treatment. That is why pre-existing medical conditions are treated differently under this policy.

Claims can arise directly from a pre-existing medical condition, for example, if the condition causes you to cancel your trip or causes your hospitalisation while you are overseas. Claims can also arise indirectly from a pre-existing medical condition, for example, you may incur additional expenses needing to fly your dependants home if they are left unsupervised during your hospitalisation.

We automatically provide cover for the 31 pre-existing medical conditions listed on pages 21-24, provided the specified criteria for the pre-existing medical condition are met.

If you have a pre-existing medical condition when you purchase your policy that:

- is not listed in the section titled 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24; or
- is listed on pages 21-24, but at the date you purchase the policy, you do not meet the relevant criteria for it to be covered, then you will not be covered for any claim that arises from the pre-existing medical condition.

What is a pre-existing medical condition?

A pre-existing medical condition is a medical, dental or physical condition, defect, disease, or illness, that you were aware of or a reasonable person in the circumstances could be expected to have been aware of when the policy is purchased, which may include a:

- lifelong, chronic or ongoing illness; or
- terminal illness; or
- mental illness; or
- currently or previously treated cancer; or
- condition that, in the last 2 years, required:
 - an emergency department visit, hospitalisation or surgery (including day surgery);
 - regular medication or ongoing treatment;
 - regular reviews or check-ups; or
 - consultation with a specialist medical adviser.

This definition of pre-existing medical condition applies to each adult traveller and dependant listed on your Certificate of Insurance.

It also applies to those not listed on your policy as explained below.

How pre-existing medical conditions of people not listed on your Certificate of Insurance impact your cover

There is limited cover specified under Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses and Benefit 7: Additional expenses for claims arising from, related to or associated with pre-existing medical conditions suffered by people not listed as travellers on your policy, for example, your close relatives or other travelling companions. Except for the limited cover specified under those benefits, there is no cover under this policy for any other claims arising from, related to or associated with, a pre-existing medical condition suffered by people who are not listed as travellers on your Certificate of Insurance.

The same definition of pre-existing medical condition under this policy will also apply to claims arising from, related to or associated with pre-existing medical conditions suffered by people not listed on your Certificate of Insurance, for example, a travel companion or close relatives like your parents or grandparents.

The terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits under each benefit and the general exclusions apply.

Pregnancy

This section applies to the pregnancy of anyone listed on your Certificate of Insurance.

What is covered

Our policy provides cover for pregnancy in limited circumstances only.

If you are pregnant when you purchase your policy or fall pregnant afterwards, you will have cover under the benefits of this policy for claims caused by an unexpected event arising from your pregnancy, as long as:

- it is a pregnancy-related sickness;
- the event occurs before the start of the 24th week of your pregnancy if it is a single pregnancy, or before the start of the 19th week for a multiple pregnancy; and
- the claim is not for something that is excluded under this policy.

We do not consider pregnancy itself to be a pre-existing medical condition. However, pregnancy-related sicknesses such as hyperemesis (severe morning sickness), gestational diabetes, and any other pregnancy-related sickness must have first developed unexpectedly after you purchased your policy, to be covered. There is no cover for any pre-existing medical conditions related to your pregnancy.

What is not covered

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses arising from or related to:

Table of contents

Definitions

- an event which occurs from the start of the 24th week of your pregnancy for a single pregnancy, or from the start of the 19th week for a multiple pregnancy;
- childbirth at any stage of your pregnancy;
- the health or care of a newborn child;
- any expenses for routine or regular antenatal care; or
- your pregnancy at any stage of gestation:
 - where the conception was medically assisted, for example through fertility treatment including hormone therapy or IVF; or
 - where there have been pregnancy complications or health complications that you have been advised may adversely affect this pregnancy before your policy was purchased; or
 - where there have been pregnancy complications for any previous pregnancy.

When we use the word 'complications' in this 'Pregnancy' section, we mean a medical condition that is caused by or adversely affected by pregnancy. Complications may include health problems that happen during pregnancy, as a result of the pregnancy, or may be caused by medical conditions that already existed prior to the pregnancy. Some examples of complications are miscarriage and preeclampsia.

It is important to also read 'General exclusions' from page 65 onwards to understand what other exclusions may apply.

Changes in your health, new medical conditions or pregnancy before you travel

If any of the following events occur at any time after you buy your policy, but before you depart on your trip, you must contact your medical adviser and get written confirmation that you are fit to travel:

- a change in a pre-existing medical condition that was covered as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
- a new medical condition (or the symptoms of one); or
- a new pregnancy.

If the medical adviser declares you unfit to travel, or if you do not obtain written confirmation from a medical adviser that you are fit to travel, you will not be covered for any claim that arises from that change in your health if you choose to travel.

If your medical adviser declares you unfit to travel, then you may be covered under the terms of your existing policy to cancel your trip and make a claim under Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses.

Epidemics and pandemics

This policy has a general exclusion for epidemics and pandemics (see 'General exclusions' starting from page 65). That means we generally do not cover claims that arise from or are related to an epidemic or pandemic.

However, there are limited exceptions. You are covered under the following benefits of your policy if you or your travel companion(s) are positively diagnosed as suffering a sickness recognised as an epidemic or pandemic (like COVID-19):

- Benefit 1: Overseas emergency medical and repatriation
- Benefit 2: Hospital cash allowance
- Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses
- Benefit 7: Additional expenses

You are also covered under the following benefits if you have taken out the relevant Optional Extra to which the benefit applies:

- Benefit 16.1: Emergency medical cover while cruising including ship to shore evacuation cover
- Benefit 16.2: Cabin confinement
- Benefit 16.3: Missed shore excursions
- Benefit 17.1: Emergency snow sport medical and repatriation
- Benefit 17.5: Prepaid snow costs

Any positive diagnoses must be certified by a medical adviser in writing.

Please note that all other terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits of this policy continue to apply, including the exclusions specified under each of the above benefits and those explained in detail under 'Your policy benefits' starting from page 27, 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras' starting from page 50, and the 'General exclusions' starting from page 65.

Among other things, that means you will not be covered if you contracted the epidemic or pandemic sickness when you had travelled against certain advice or warnings by the Australian Government (see the general exclusion relating to 'Travel alerts and other warnings' on page 69) and did not take appropriate action to avoid contracting the sickness, for example, by delaying travel to the country or part of the country referred to in the travel warning.

Details of what we cover

This part explains the details of what we will and will not pay under each benefit, and the limits and conditions that apply.

The maximum amount we will pay for all claims combined under each benefit is shown in the tables within each benefit under the Plan you have chosen, including applicable sub-limits (where they apply). Please read the tables carefully, because they also show that some Plans do not have cover for some benefits. Following the tables are the terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits which apply to the benefit if it is available for your chosen Plan.

Please make sure to read all the other sections of this PDS so that you are aware of the full terms, conditions, limitations and exclusions that apply to this policy, particularly the ‘General exclusions’ starting from page 65.

Cover for your health

Benefit 1: Overseas emergency medical and repatriation

	Black Comprehensive	Standard	Essentials
Maximum benefit limit per adult traveller	Unlimited*	Unlimited*	Unlimited*
Sub-limits per adult traveller: Overseas emergency dental expenses	$2,000	$1,000	$500
Sub-limits per adult traveller: Overseas funeral or cremation expenses or expenses for the repatriation of mortal remains to Australia	$60,000	$60,000	$60,000

*The term ‘Unlimited’ means there is no capped dollar sum insured. Terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits apply. Please refer to ‘Your policy benefits’ starting from page 27, and ‘General exclusions’ starting from page 65, for details.

What we cover

We will reimburse the reasonable costs you incur for overseas emergency medical or hospital expenses during your trip until you return home, if:

- you suffer an unexpected injury or sickness;
- you need treatment for a pre-existing medical condition that is covered under the policy as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24; or
- you suffer a sudden and acute onset of dental pain or an injury to your teeth.

If you experience any of the above events, you should contact our Emergency Assistance team 24/7 for support. Their details are shown on page 1.

Our Emergency Assistance team can also organise and pay the cost of providing or arranging for the following assistance services during your trip:

- arranging a medical adviser to provide you with emergency medical treatment overseas;
- contacting your family or employer on your behalf or relevant embassies and consulates if necessary;
- arranging written guarantees for payment of reasonable expenses for emergency hospitalisation overseas;
- your medical transfer or evacuation if you must be transported to the nearest overseas hospital for emergency medical treatment or your repatriation to Australia with appropriate medical supervision; and
- returning any dependants listed on your Certificate of Insurance to Australia, if they are left unsupervised during your overseas hospitalisation or evacuation.

Sub-limits that apply

- If you suffer an injury, or sudden and acute onset of pain, to one or more healthy and natural teeth, we will pay for the reimbursement of reasonable costs incurred for emergency dental treatment received overseas during your trip, up to the sub-limit listed for your Plan per adult traveller listed on the Certificate of Insurance. 'Healthy and natural teeth' means that the emergency dental treatment received must be for the injury to or pain of an original tooth (or one with a filling) and/or supporting tissues (your gums).
- We will also pay for your reasonable funeral expenses incurred overseas or the cost of bringing your remains back to your home if you die overseas. The maximum amount we will pay per adult traveller is $60,000.

Benefit conditions

- You should contact our Emergency Assistance team as soon as reasonably possible, if any of the events set out under this benefit have occurred. You may have someone else contact us on your behalf if you are unable to do so.
- You must have cover under your policy for the relevant sickness or injury for which you are receiving the emergency medical treatment. This means it must relate to:
 - an unexpected sickness;
 - a pre-existing medical condition that is covered under the policy, as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
 - the sudden and acute onset of dental pain; or
 - an injury that occurred while you were participating in an activity covered under your policy, and must not otherwise be excluded (for example, under 'General exclusions' starting from page 65).

- We will only pay for overseas medical treatment received and/or hospital expenses for a maximum continuous period of 12 months from the date the sickness first presented itself or the injury occurred.

If we reasonably determine based on information available to us at the time that you should return to Australia for treatment, and you do not agree to do so, then subject to benefit limits and sub-limits, we will pay you the amount that we reasonably determine would have covered your medical expenses and/or related costs had you agreed to our recommendation. You will then be responsible for any ongoing or additional costs relating to or arising out of the event you have claimed for.

- If a treatment is available under public-funded services, or care or treatment under a Reciprocal Health Care Agreement between Australia and the relevant country in which you will receive the treatment is available, you will need to seek such a treatment if reasonably practicable to do so. Our Emergency Assistance team will support you in organising this care once you have contacted them.
- If we have paid for costs to return you to your home, but you did not already have a prepaid return flight home, we will deduct the reasonable cost of a prepaid return flight home from your claims settlement. That is because this is a cost you would have incurred anyway.

What we do not cover

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit caused by, arising from or related to:

- any expenses incurred overseas for medical treatment, medical evacuation, funeral expenses or bringing your remains back to your home, unless it has been approved by our Emergency Assistance team (which approval will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed). However, if any costs have been reasonably incurred without our approval and before contacting us, we will only cover any such costs or expenses to the extent we would have approved them, up to an amount we would have otherwise reasonably incurred, had contact been made and approval provided by us;

- pre-existing medical conditions, except ones covered as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
- private medical or hospital treatment where public-funded services or care is available, including medical or hospital treatment under any Reciprocal Health Agreement between Australia and the government of any other country, unless it is not reasonably practicable to seek such treatment or we agree to the private treatment (which will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed);
- any additional treatment after 2 weeks of treatment by a dentist unless approved by us (which approval will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed);
- routine medical or dental treatment or prenatal visits;
- damage to dentures, dental prostheses, bridges or crowns;
- dental expenses involving the use of precious metals, teeth whitening or involving cosmetic dentistry;
- dental treatment caused by or related to the deterioration and/or decay of teeth;
- any costs incurred in Australia, except the reasonable cost of transporting your remains from the inbound port or airport to your home or nominated funeral service;
- costs and expenses that you would not have incurred had you followed reasonable medical advice. This includes any subsequent medical, hospital or evacuation expenses incurred when you did not follow the reasonable medical advice given to you;
- medical evacuation from Australia to an overseas country;
- returning your deceased remains to a country other than Australia;
- your participation in any of the adventure activities listed under 'Adventure Pack' during your trip unless you have purchased the optional Adventure Pack;
- your participation in a cruise during your trip, unless you have purchased the optional Cruise Pack;
- your participation in snow sport activities during your trip, unless you have purchased the optional Snow Pack; or
- your participation in riding a motorcycle or moped during your trip, unless you have purchased the optional Motorcycle/Moped Pack.

What we cover

If you are hospitalised for more than 48 continuous hours while overseas, we will pay you $50 for each 24 continuous hours after those initial 48 hours, that you remain hospitalised, up to the benefit limit. This benefit is intended to cover incidental expenses you incur in hospital like television rental, newspapers and hospital phone calls, but we will not require proof from you that you have incurred these incidental expenses.

No excess applies to claims under this benefit.

What we do not cover

We will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit arising from or related to:

- the first 48 continuous hours you are admitted to hospital; or
- your hospitalisation if you do not have a valid claim for overseas medical or hospital expenses under Benefit 1: Overseas emergency medical and repatriation.

Benefit 3: Accidental death

Maximum benefit limit per adult traveller	$25,000
Sub-limits: Dependants listed on the Certificate of Insurance	$5,000 per dependant listed on the Certificate of Insurance

What we cover

We will pay the benefit limit (or sub-limit in the case of the dependants) for your Plan to your estate, if you die due to an injury sustained during your trip, provided:

- your death occurs within 12 months of the accident that caused your injury; or
- the transport you are travelling on during your trip disappears, sinks or crashes and your body is not found within 12 months and you are presumed dead.

Please see 'Definitions' starting from page 70, to find the definition of 'injury'.

Benefit 4: Permanent disability

	Black Comprehensive	Standard	Essentials
Maximum benefit limit per adult traveller	$25,000	✗	✗
Sub-limits: Dependants listed on the Certificate of Insurance	$5,000 per dependant listed on the Certificate of Insurance	✗	✗

What we cover

We will pay you the benefit limit (or sub-limit in the case of dependants) listed for your Plan if:

- you suffer an injury overseas during your trip; and
- due to this injury, you become permanently disabled within 12 months of the injury occurring; and
- at the expiry of that period, the permanent disability is unlikely to materially improve in the opinion of a medical adviser.

Please see 'Definitions' starting from page 70, to find the definition of 'permanently disabled'.

What we do not cover

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay under this benefit if your injury arises from or relates to your participation in snow sport activities, activities listed under the 'Adventure Pack' in 'How Optional Extras work' starting from page 10, or riding a motorcycle or moped overseas. This exclusion applies even if you have bought the optional Snow Pack, Adventure Pack or Motorcycle/Moped Pack.

Benefit 5: Loss of income

	Black Comprehensive	Standard	Essentials
Maximum benefit limit per adult traveller	$10,400	✗	✗
Sub-limits: Weekly limit	$400 per week	✗	✗

What we cover

We will pay you the sub-limit, up to the maximum benefit limit listed for your Plan if:

- you are injured during your overseas trip; and
- as a result of the injuries, after 30 days of your return home, you are unable to return to the job that you held in Australia before departing on your overseas trip; and
- you lose all your usual income from your job.

There is no cover for dependants under this benefit.

Sub-limits that apply

We will pay you up to $400 per week for a period of up to 26 weeks to replace your weekly wage, net of income tax, that you have lost due to your injury.

What we do not cover

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit arising from or related to:

- any disablement or loss of income during the first 30 days from the time you originally planned to resume your job;
- the loss of income of your dependants; or
- the loss of income for any job that you held overseas.

Cover for your trip

Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses

	Black Comprehensive	Standard	Essentials
Maximum benefit limit per policy	As selected	As selected	As selected
Sub-limits per adult traveller: For events relating to a pre-existing medical condition suffered by your close relative, not travelling with you on your trip*	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000
Sub-limits per adult traveller: For travel agent's cancellation fees	$1,500	$1,500	$1,500

*Subject to the terms and conditions below.

What we cover

If during your period of cover, your trip is cancelled, rescheduled or cut short because of unexpected circumstances that were not intended by you and are outside of your control, we cover the following, up to the maximum benefit limit and sub-limit (as applicable):

- If your trip is cancelled entirely and you do not reschedule it before your trip departure date, we will reimburse you the non-refundable portion of your travel and accommodation expenses that you have paid in advance and cannot recover in any other reasonably practicable way.
- If your trip is cancelled entirely and you do reschedule it before your trip departure date, we will reimburse you the unrecoverable costs of rescheduling your trip. If the cost of rescheduling is more than the cost of cancelling the trip instead, we will pay the lesser of the two. We will deduct any refunds or credits you receive from the amount we reimburse you.

- If you have to cut your trip short while you are travelling, we will reimburse you the non-refundable portion of your unused travel and accommodation expenses that you have paid in advance and cannot recover in any other reasonably practicable way.

We will also reimburse the following, up to the maximum benefit limit or sub-limit (as applicable):

- your travel agent's cancellation fees and commission or service fees retained by your travel agent up to the amount of commission or service fees that your travel agent would have earned had your trip not been cancelled, up to $1,500 per adult traveller; and
- for the value of frequent flyer or similar air travel points that you used to buy an airline ticket following the cancellation of that airline ticket if you cannot recover the loss in any other reasonably practicable way.

We will calculate the amount we pay you as follows:

- if the airline will not refund your points, we will pay you the cost of the equivalent class air ticket based on the quoted retail price at the time the ticket was issued; or
- if the airline will only refund a portion of your points, we will pay you the cost of the equivalent class air ticket based on the quoted retail price at the time the ticket was issued, less the value of the portion of your points refunded back to you.

Here are some examples of reasons for cancelling, rescheduling or cutting short your trip that are covered under this benefit:

- You or your travel companion suffer an injury (that is not related to a pre-existing medical condition) before your trip and as a result, you need to reschedule your trip;
- Your trip is cut short because a close relative, not travelling with you on your trip, has been hospitalised and as a result, you need to return home; or
- Your home has been destroyed by a natural disaster before your trip and as a result, you need to cancel your trip.

Sub-limits that apply

- If you need to cancel or reschedule your trip because of the hospitalisation or death of your close relative not travelling with you on your trip, and it is related to a pre-existing medical condition, the most we will pay under this benefit is $2,000 per adult traveller. We will not apply this sub-limit if you can reasonably demonstrate that the hospitalisation or death is not related to a pre-existing medical condition.
- We will pay up to $1,500 per adult traveller for any travel agent's cancellation fees and any commission or service fees retained by your travel agent up to the amount of commission or service fees that your travel agent would have earned had your trip not been cancelled.

Benefit conditions

- If you make a claim under Benefit 7: Additional expenses for additional travel expenses to reschedule your trip as a result of the same event for which you are claiming under Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses, we will only pay the higher amount, not both. We will not pay a claim for the same event under both this benefit and Benefit 7: Additional expenses. For example, if the cost to cancel part of your trip is $3,000 and the cost to amend or rearrange your booking is $2,000, then the most we will pay is $3,000.
- If you submit a claim under this benefit following the cancellation of your entire trip, we will assess your claim under the policy terms, but cover under this policy ends. You will need to buy another policy for any subsequent trip.
- If we have paid to bring you back to Australia under any benefit of your policy, we will not also reimburse you for your original unused prepaid flight back to Australia.

What we do not cover

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit arising from or related to:

- expenses being incurred in circumstances where you were aware, or a reasonable person in your circumstances ought to have been aware, before your policy was issued, of any reason that may cause your trip to be cancelled, rescheduled or cut short;
- your pre-existing medical conditions, except ones specified as covered under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
- the death or hospitalisation of your close relative not travelling with you on your trip, if it arises from a pre-existing medical condition except as specified under 'Sub-limits that apply';
- you or your travel companion changing plans or deciding not to continue with the intended trip;
- any business, financial or contractual obligations. This exclusion does not apply to claims where you or your travel companion are involuntarily made redundant from permanent full-time employment in Australia provided you or they were not reasonably aware that the redundancy was to occur before you bought your policy;
- cancellations, delays or rescheduling by a bus line, airline, shipping line or rail authority;
- a tour operator or wholesaler being unable to complete arrangements for any tour because there were not enough people to go on the tour. This exclusion does not apply to prepaid travel arrangements bought separately to reach the departure point for the tour or for other travel arrangements which do not form part of the tour;
- any service provider misappropriating your funds or failing to arrange or provide services for which you have paid;
- the breakdown or dissolution of any personal relationship;

- the mechanical breakdown of any means of transport;
- an act of terrorism;
- the financial collapse or insolvency of any carrier or service provider; or
- a request by your employer, your leave application being denied, or your leave being revoked. This exclusion does not apply if you are a full-time member of the Australian Defence Force or of federal, state or territory emergency services (e.g. police, fire, ambulance, paramedic) and your leave is revoked.

Benefit 7: Additional expenses

	Black Comprehensive	Standard	Essentials
Maximum benefit limit per adult traveller	$50,000	$25,000	$5,000
Sub-limits per adult traveller: For events relating to a pre-existing medical condition suffered by your close relative, not travelling with you on your trip.	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000

What we cover

Additional expenses due to your incapacity or the incapacity of your travel companion

We will reimburse your reasonable additional travel and accommodation expenses that you incur if:

- you cannot continue your trip due to an injury, sickness or a pre-existing medical condition that is covered under the policy as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24, which needs immediate and continued treatment from a medical adviser; or
- your travel companion cannot continue their trip because of an injury or sickness (but not a pre-existing medical condition) that needs immediate and continued treatment from a medical adviser and you need to remain with your travel companion.

In both cases, you will need to provide reasonable proof of incapacity and inability to travel, in writing from the treating medical adviser. Our Emergency Assistance team will be able to confirm whether you have cover for these expenses.

Additional expenses for a companion if you are admitted to hospital or evacuated for medical reasons

If you are admitted to hospital suffering from a life-threatening or other serious condition, or are evacuated for medical reasons, we will reimburse the reasonable travel and accommodation expenses for your close relative or friend to travel to you, stay near you or escort you on the recommendation of your treating medical adviser, provided you contact our Emergency Assistance team for approval before any expenses are incurred (which approval will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed).

Additional expenses due to specified unexpected events

We will reimburse you, up to the maximum benefit limit or sub-limit (as applicable), for the following specified additional expenses that you incur if you experience a disruption to your trip due to the stated reasons:

- your reasonable additional accommodation and travel expenses if your scheduled or connecting transport is cancelled, delayed, rescheduled or diverted because of a riot, strike, hijack, civil protest, weather, natural disaster or accident affecting your mode of transport;
- your reasonable additional accommodation and travel expenses because of the loss of your passport or other travel documents;
- the reasonable additional cost of your return home if your home is declared uninhabitable due to a fire, explosion, or a natural disaster during your trip; or
- the reasonable additional cost of your return home if, during your trip, your close relative not travelling with you on your trip, dies unexpectedly or is hospitalised due to a pre-existing medical condition, a sickness or an injury (subject to the sub-limit below).

Sub-limits that apply

- If the reason you need to return home is due to the hospitalisation or death of your close relative not travelling with you on your trip, and it is related to a pre-existing medical condition, the most we will pay under this benefit is $2,000 per adult traveller. We will not apply this sub-limit if you can reasonably demonstrate that the hospitalisation or death is not related to a pre-existing medical condition.

Benefit conditions

- If you make a claim under Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses for unused, prepaid, non-refundable costs and cancellation fees as a result of the same event for which you are claiming under this benefit, we will only pay the higher amount, not both. We will not pay a claim for the same event under both this benefit and Benefit 6: Cancellation expenses. For example, if your missed prepaid connection was $1,000 and the cost for a new flight is $1,500, then the most we will pay is $1,500.
- You should contact our Emergency Assistance team to confirm you have cover before any expenses are incurred.

What we do not cover

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit arising from or related to:

- any expenses incurred for travel and accommodation expenses for your close relative or friend to travel to you, stay near you or escort you on the recommendation of your treating medical adviser, unless it has been approved by our Emergency Assistance team before any costs are incurred (which approval will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed). However, if any costs have been reasonably incurred without our approval and before contacting us, we will only cover any such costs or expenses to the extent we would have approved them, up to an amount we would have otherwise reasonably incurred, had contact been made and approval provided by us;
- your pre-existing medical conditions, except ones covered as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
- the death or hospitalisation of your close relative not travelling with you on your trip, if it arises from a pre-existing medical condition, except as specified under 'Sub-limits that apply';
- expenses being incurred in circumstances where you were aware, or a reasonable person in your circumstances ought to have been aware before your policy was issued, of any reason that may cause your trip to be cancelled, disrupted or delayed;
- any service provider misappropriating your funds or failing to arrange or provide services for which you have paid;
- for cancellations, delays, rescheduling or diversions to your scheduled or connecting transport unless it is due to a riot, strike, hijack, civil protest, weather, natural disaster or accident affecting your mode of transport;
- the financial collapse or insolvency of any service provider; or
- any additional expenses you can claim from anyone else, such as your carrier, where it is reasonably practicable to do so.

Sub-limits per adult traveller: Personal computers and laptops, tablets, cameras or video cameras	$3,000	$3,000	$1,000

What we cover

We will pay up to the benefit limit and sub-limit listed for your Plan if your luggage or personal belongings are permanently lost, stolen or accidentally damaged during your trip.

A pair or related set of items is considered to be only one item under this policy and the relevant single-item limit will be applied. For example, a pair or related set of items could include the following:

- a camera and its accessories, such as lenses (attached or not) and tripods; or
- a pair of earrings.

The amount we will pay will be the lesser of:

Table of contentsDefinitions

- the depreciated value after allowing for age, wear and tear and advances in technology;
- the original purchase price;
- the replacement cost; or
- the repair cost.

We may need you to provide reasonable proof of purchase and ownership to assess your claim.

We will not apply depreciation to any item you purchased less than 12 months ago.

If you have bought the optional Valuables Pack, the item sub-limits set out under Benefit 10: Luggage and personal belongings and depreciation will not apply to the items specified on your Certificate of Insurance.

How we apply depreciation

When we settle a claim for your lost, stolen or damaged luggage and personal belongings, the settlement will have regard to the value of an item at the time of the loss.

This means that for any item over 12 months old, we will apply depreciation, which will take into account the amount originally paid for the item, its age, wear and tear and advances in technology according to the table below:

Items	How we apply depreciation
Jewellery (not including watches or costume jewellery)	We will not make any deductions for depreciation.
Communication devices, all computers, electrical devices, electronics equipment, phones, all, photographic equipment, smartwatches, tablet computers	We will deduct 20% of the purchase price for each year you have owned the item up to a maximum deduction of 80%.
All other items	We will deduct 15% of the purchase price for each year you have owned the item up to a maximum deduction of 80%.

Sub-limits that apply

- You can claim for any combination of luggage and personal belongings up to the applicable sub-limits, but the maximum amount we will pay under this benefit will not exceed the maximum benefit limit per adult traveller for your chosen Plan. This is unless you have bought the optional Valuables Pack where the maximum total sub-limits that you can choose for all item types combined is $7,000 per adult traveller.

- The most we will pay for your luggage and personal belongings stolen from a concealed storage compartment of a locked motor vehicle is up to $200 for each stolen item and $2,000 in total for all stolen items. These sub-limits and limits apply even if you have bought the optional Valuables Pack for the stolen items. There must be signs of forced entry to the vehicle that are confirmed by a police report, if it is reasonably practicable to obtain one. Please see 'What we do not cover' below for an explanation of when we do not cover theft from a motor vehicle.

Benefit conditions

- You must take reasonable care to protect your luggage and personal belongings. For example, you will not be taking reasonable care if you:
 - leave your belongings in a publicly accessible location far enough away from you that you cannot prevent them from being taken;
 - leave your belongings in an unlocked motor vehicle, or in plain sight in a motor vehicle;
 - leave an item behind or walk away from it; or
 - leave an item with someone who is not your travel companion or your close relative.
- You must report any loss, damage, crime or accident to the police, security personnel, accommodation provider or carrier, if applicable, as soon as reasonably practicable, but preferably within 24 hours of the crime, and provide a copy of the report with your claim if it is reasonably practicable to do so.

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit arising from or related to:

- the loss, theft or damage to, or of, luggage and personal belongings which have been left behind in any carrier, public or private transport, or in any accommodation provider after you have checked out;

- you travelling on a carrier when the loss, theft or damage occurred if you are entitled to be reimbursed by the carrier and it is reasonably practicable to get reimbursement. But, if you are not reimbursed the full amount of your claim, and the circumstances are covered under this benefit, we will pay the difference between the amount of your loss and what you were reimbursed, up to the limit of your cover (allowing for depreciation due to age, wear and tear and advances in technology);
- your luggage and personal belongings being left in a motor vehicle unless they were stored in the concealed storage compartment of a locked motor vehicle and there were signs of forced entry as confirmed by a police report, if it is reasonably practicable to obtain one;

If you are cruising overseas or heading to an overseas destination on a cruise while you are on your trip and have not bought the Cruise Pack, there will be no cover under any benefit of the policy for cruising.

If you have bought the Cruise Pack, there is also cover for the following additional benefits:

Benefit 16.1: Emergency medical cover while cruising including ship to shore evacuation cover

	Black Comprehensive	Standard	Essentials
Maximum benefit limit per adult traveller	Unlimited*	✗	✗
Sub-limits per adult traveller: Overseas emergency dental expenses	$2,000	✗	✗
Sub-limits per adult traveller: Overseas funeral or cremation expenses or expenses for the repatriation of mortal remains to Australia	$60,000	✗	✗

*The term 'Unlimited' means there is no capped dollar sum insured. Terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits apply. Please refer to the 'Additional benefits under the Optional Extras' starting from page 50, and 'General exclusions' starting from page 65, for details.

What we cover

We will reimburse the reasonable costs you incur for your emergency medical or hospital expenses on your overseas cruise during your trip until you return home if:

- you suffer an unexpected injury or sickness;
- you need treatment for a pre-existing medical condition that is covered under the policy as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24; or
- you suffer a sudden and acute onset of dental pain or an injury to your teeth.

If you experience any of the above events, you should contact our Emergency Assistance team 24/7 for support. Their details are shown on page 1.

Our Emergency Assistance team can also organise and pay the cost of providing or arranging for the following assistance services during your trip:

- arranging a medical adviser to provide you with emergency medical treatment overseas;

Table of contents

Definitions

- contacting your family or employer on your behalf or relevant embassies and consulates if necessary;
- arranging written guarantees for payment of reasonable expenses for emergency hospitalisation overseas;
- your medical transfer or evacuation if you must be transported to the nearest overseas hospital for emergency medical treatment or your repatriation to Australia with appropriate medical supervision; and
- returning any dependants listed on your Certificate of Insurance to Australia, if they are left unsupervised during your overseas hospitalisation or evacuation.

Sub-limits that apply

- If you suffer an injury, or sudden and acute onset of pain, to one or more healthy and natural teeth, we will pay for the reimbursement of reasonable costs incurred for emergency dental treatment received on your overseas cruise during your trip, up to the sub-limit listed for your Plan per adult traveller listed on the Certificate of Insurance. 'Healthy and natural teeth' means that the emergency dental treatment received must be for the injury to or pain of an original tooth (or one with a filling) and/or supporting tissues (your gums).
- We will also pay for your reasonable funeral expenses incurred overseas or the cost of bringing your remains back to your home if you die on your overseas cruise. The maximum amount we will pay per adult traveller is $60,000.

Benefit conditions

- You should contact our Emergency Assistance team as soon as reasonably possible, if any of the events set out under this benefit have occurred. You may have someone else contact us on your behalf if you are unable to do so.
- You must have cover under your policy for the relevant sickness or injury for which you are receiving the emergency medical treatment. This means it must relate to:

 - a pre-existing medical condition that is covered under the policy, as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
 - the sudden and acute onset of dental pain; or
 - an injury that occurred while you were participating in an activity covered under your policy, and must not otherwise be excluded (for example, under 'General exclusions' starting from page 65).

- We will only pay for overseas medical treatment received and/or hospital expenses you require onboard your cruise until either:
 - you return home;
 - you disembark the vessel at the end of your cruise; or

- a maximum continuous period of 12 months has elapsed from the date the injury occurred or the sickness first presented itself, whichever happens first.

If we reasonably determine based on information available to us at the time that you should return to Australia for treatment, and you do not agree to do so, then subject to benefit limits and sub-limits, we will pay you the amount that we reasonably determine would have covered your medical expenses and/or related costs had you agreed to our recommendation. You will then be responsible for any ongoing or additional costs relating to or arising out of the event you have claimed for.

- If a treatment is available under public-funded services, or care or treatment under a Reciprocal Health Care Agreement between Australia and the relevant country in which you will receive the treatment is available, you will need to seek such a treatment if reasonably practicable to do so. Our Emergency Assistance team will support you in organising this care once you have contacted them.
- If we have paid for costs to return you to your home, but you did not already have a prepaid return flight home, we will deduct the reasonable cost of a prepaid return flight home from your claims settlement. That is because this is a cost you would have incurred anyway.

What we do not cover

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit arising from or related to:

- any expenses incurred overseas for medical treatment, medical evacuation, funeral expenses or bringing your remains back to your home, unless it has been approved by our Emergency Assistance team (which approval will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed). - pre-existing medical conditions, except ones covered as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
- private medical or hospital treatment where public-funded services or care is available, including medical or hospital treatment under any Reciprocal Health Agreement between Australia and the government of any other country, unless it is not reasonably practicable to seek such treatment or we agree to the private treatment (which will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed);

- routine medical or dental treatment or prenatal visits;

- costs and expenses that you would not have incurred had you followed reasonable medical advice. This includes any subsequent medical, hospital or evacuation expenses incurred when you did not follow the reasonable medical advice given to you;
- medical evacuation from Australia to an overseas country; or
- returning your deceased remains to a country other than Australia.

- returning any dependants listed on your Certificate of Insurance to Australia, if they are left unsupervised during your overseas hospitalisation or evacuation.

Sub-limits that apply

We will also pay for your reasonable funeral expenses incurred overseas or the cost of bringing your remains back to your home if you die while participating in snow sport activities overseas during your trip. The maximum amount we will pay per adult traveller is $60,000.

Benefit conditions

- You should contact our Emergency Assistance team as soon as reasonably possible, if any of the events set out under this benefit have occurred. You may have someone else contact us on your behalf if you are unable to do so.
- You must have cover under your policy for the relevant sickness or injury for which you are receiving the emergency medical treatment. This means it must relate to:
 - an unexpected sickness;
 - a pre-existing medical condition that is covered under the policy, as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
 - the sudden and acute onset of dental pain; or
 - an injury that occurred while you were participating in an activity covered under your policy, and must not otherwise be excluded (for example, under 'General exclusions' starting from page 65).

- We will only pay for overseas medical treatment received and/or hospital expenses for a maximum continuous period of 12 months from the date the sickness first presented itself or the injury occurred.

If we reasonably determine based on information available to us at the time that you should return to Australia for treatment, and you do not agree to do so, then subject to benefit limits and sub-limits, we will pay you the amount that we reasonably determine would have covered your medical expenses and/or related costs had you agreed to our recommendation. You will then be responsible for any ongoing or additional costs relating to or arising out of the event you have claimed for.

- If a treatment is available under public-funded services, or care or treatment under a Reciprocal Health Care Agreement between Australia and the relevant country in which you will receive the treatment is available, you will need to seek such a treatment if reasonably practicable to do so. Our Emergency Assistance team will support you in organising this care once you have contacted them.

- If we have paid for costs to return you to your home, but you did not already have a prepaid return flight home, we will deduct the reasonable cost of a prepaid return flight home from your claims settlement. That is because this is a cost you would have incurred anyway.

What we do not cover

To the extent permitted by law, we will not pay any claims, costs or losses under this benefit arising from or related to:

- any expenses incurred overseas for medical treatment, medical evacuation, funeral expenses or bringing your remains back to your home, unless it has been approved by our Emergency Assistance team (which approval will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed). However, if any costs have been reasonably incurred without our approval and before contacting us, we will only cover any such costs or expenses to the extent we would have approved them, up to an amount we would have otherwise reasonably incurred, had contact been made and approval provided by us;
- pre-existing medical conditions, except ones covered as specified under 'Pre-existing medical condition(s) we automatically cover for those listed on the policy' on pages 21-24;
- private medical or hospital treatment where public-funded services or care is available, including medical or hospital treatment under any Reciprocal Health Agreement between Australia and the government of any other country, unless it is not reasonably practicable to seek such treatment or we agree to the private treatment (which will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed);
- bobsleighbing, snow rafting, parapenting, ski acrobatics, ski or snowboard jumping, aerial skiing, stunting, freestyle, skijoring or any form of power-assisted skiing or use of mechanised snow-mobiles except as provided by the recognised piste authorities for transport to and from areas designed for recreational skiing;
- any claims arising outside the period 15th December to 31st March in Northern Hemisphere resorts, and 15th June to 30th September in Southern Hemisphere resorts. This exclusion will not apply to those resorts that are open outside these periods and have sufficient snow for normal skiing activities;
- any costs incurred in Australia, except the reasonable cost of transporting your remains from the inbound port or airport to your home or nominated funeral service;
- costs and expenses that you would not have incurred had you followed reasonable medical advice. This includes any subsequent medical, hospital or evacuation expenses incurred when you did not follow the reasonable medical advice given to you;
- medical evacuation from Australia to an overseas country; or
- returning your deceased remains to a country other than Australia;

But, if you are not reimbursed the full amount of your claim, and the circumstances are covered under this benefit, we will pay the difference between the amount of your loss and what you were reimbursed, up to the limit of your cover; or

- your snow sport equipment being left in a motor vehicle unless they were stored in a concealed storage compartment of a locked motor vehicle or left securely locked to the luggage/ski racks fitted to the roof of a locked motor vehicle, and there were signs of forced entry as confirmed by a police report, if it is reasonably practicable to obtain one.

What happens in an emergency

We understand that it can be very stressful if something unexpected happens while you are on your trip .

Emergency assistance is available to you 365 days of the year and is provided by our partner, CEGA Group Services Limited.

You must let us know as soon as you can if you experience an emergency.

We are here for support 24 hours a day, 7 days a week at +61 2 8294 7772.

Overseas hospital admission or medical evacuation

If you are admitted to hospital, or being treated as an outpatient, you or a member of your travelling party should contact us as soon as reasonably possible to seek approval to incur such cost. Otherwise, we may reduce the amount payable for your claim to the extent we are prejudiced by any failure to contact us and seek approval. Approval will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed.

Our Emergency Assistance team will:

- help you with medical problems;
- help with paying significant medical bills if you are hospitalised;
- find the nearest medical facilities with English-speaking doctors, if possible;
- bring you home, if medically necessary;
- find embassies and consulates; and
- pass messages on to your loved ones and work colleagues during an emergency.

You can choose your own medical adviser

Unless you are treated under a Reciprocal Health Agreement, you are free to choose your own medical adviser, or we can appoint an approved medical adviser, subject to the 'Private medical treatment' exclusion on page 68. You must, as soon as possible, advise our Emergency Assistance team of your admission to hospital or your early return to Australia based on written medical advice, if it is reasonably practicable to obtain one. If you do not receive the medical treatment you expect, we can assist you but we are not liable for any problems that result from you choosing your own medical adviser.

How travel claims work

We hope that nothing goes wrong on your trip, but if it does and you need to claim, we are here to help.

When to make a claim

Read through the terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits of your policy – for example, the benefits listed under ‘Your policy benefits’ starting from page 27, and also in ‘Additional benefits under the Optional Extras’ (if applicable) starting from page 50, the ‘General exclusions’ starting from page 65, or your Certificate of Insurance to check whether you are covered.

You should submit your claim within 30 days of your return or as soon as possible after the unexpected event that has caused the claim. If we need additional information, we will let you know.

How to make a claim

If your claim relates to an emergency, please call our Emergency Assistance team on +61 2 8294 7772.

Otherwise, the easiest way to make a claim is to log in at huddleinsurance.com/au and follow the steps.

Please make sure to have your policy number, personal details and the details of anyone else claiming on this policy ready.

What you must do when you make a claim

When you make a claim with us, you must:

- take all reasonable steps to prevent or minimise a claim;
- answer all our questions honestly and truthfully;
- provide documentation to support your claim and any other information that we may reasonably need to process your claim. Depending on the claim you make, you may need to provide receipts or documents like:
 - medical certificates;
 - relevant medical records or reports, including information about previous medical conditions and courses of treatment, to determine whether your claim relates to a pre-existing medical condition;

Table of contents

Definitions

- discharge summaries;
 - cabin confinement order;
 - death certificates;
 - original itineraries and confirmation of pre-paid accommodation, transport, cruises, tours or excursions;
 - proof of refunds or credits;
 - receipts for costs incurred for meals, accommodation or other essentials;
 - confirmation of cancellation, delay, diversion or disruption from the cruise, carrier, resort or other relevant authority responsible;
 - proof of pre-arranged special events;
 - loss reports from the police, carrier, accommodation or other relevant authorities;
 - proof of ownership;
 - credit card or bank statements;
 - valuations;
 - repair quotes or reports;
 - rental agreements;
 - proof of legal costs;
 - evidence of employment;
 - payslips; or
 - incident reports.
- give us any information we reasonably ask for and not provide false or exaggerated information;
 - cooperate fully in the assessment or investigation of your claim;
 - first claim from any other person or company you are entitled to receive reimbursement or compensation for to cover a loss or cost covered under this policy, like carriers, airlines, transport providers, hotels, and travel agents, if it is reasonably practicable to do so. You must provide us with written confirmation of whether you are entitled to any credits or refunds. If they do not pay you the full amount of your cost or loss or provide you with an equivalent credit, and you are otherwise entitled to payment under your policy, we will pay you the difference (less any applicable excesses).
 - tell us about any third party you know of that money may be recovered from, so that we may control and settle proceedings for our own benefit in your name and on your behalf, to recover money from any party regarding any claim covered by this policy. You must assist and allow us to do what is necessary for these purposes, regardless of whether we have already paid your claim or not, and whether we pay you partial or full compensation for your loss. Once we have paid the total amount of your loss, we will keep any extra funds.
 - provide the correct bank details for any claim payments. We are not responsible if any payments are not distributed appropriately due to you providing us with incorrect bank details.
 - give us details if any loss, damage or liability covered under this policy may be covered by other insurance policies. We may seek contributions from your other insurer. You must give us any information we reasonably ask for to help us make a claim from your other insurer.
 - pay us back the same amount we paid you, if we pay your claim for irrecoverable or damaged property and you get it back or it is replaced by a third party, unless we are prohibited by law to recover this amount.

What you must not do

It is very important that you do not:

- admit fault or liability to anyone;
- offer or promise to pay any money to anyone;
- take active steps in relation to litigation without first contacting us;
- act dishonestly or fraudulently, such as:
 - not telling us something you are required to;
 - refusing to assist us with the information we ask for to process your claim; or
 - submitting a claim that is fraudulent or false in any respect.

If you or someone authorised and acting for you, submits to us any false or misleading information, we may be entitled to refuse your claim and report you to the authorities, and you may be prosecuted.

How we process your claim

If you have provided all the documents we reasonably need, we will be in touch with you about your claim outcome within 10 business days. If we need additional information from you, we will contact you within 10 business days to ask for this information. All claim amounts will be paid in Australian dollars.

How GST affects your claim if you are a business traveller

If you are entitled to claim an input tax credit for a cost for which a claim is made or you would be entitled to an input tax credit if you were to incur the relevant cost, for example replacing a lost or stolen item, the amount we would otherwise pay will be reduced by the amount of that input tax credit.

If you are liable to pay an excess under the policy, the amount payable will be calculated after the deduction of any input tax credit that you are or may be entitled to claim on payment of the excess.

Some examples of how we settle claims

Other things you need to know

Your duty to answer honestly

Before you enter into, vary or extend this insurance policy with us, you have a legal duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation.

What does this mean?

This means you need to take reasonable care to provide honest, accurate and complete answers to any questions that we ask. This includes:

- checking the information we give you when you apply for or change this policy; and
- letting us know if any of that information has changed or is inaccurate or incomplete.

If you do not correct the information, we will take it that you agree with the information and that your answers are current, accurate and complete.

Why is this important?

We rely on your answers and information you provide, to decide whether we can insure you, on what terms and for what premium.

It is also important to understand that when you answer our questions, you are answering for yourself and anyone else to whom the questions apply. If you are not sure about the answers or the accuracy or completeness of the information, you should take the time to find out before giving a response.

If you do not take reasonable care in answering our questions or correcting the information, you may breach your duty. If that happens, claims on your policy may be denied or not paid in full, and we may be permitted to cancel your policy and treat it as if it never existed.

How your premium is worked out

We will let you know about any premium you must pay when you apply to buy or change your policy. If you make other changes to your policy like increasing your trip duration after you buy your policy, we may ask you additional questions, and we will advise you of any additional premium you need to pay.

Table of contents

Definitions

Your premium is based on factors which include the following:

- the Plan you choose;
- the number of adult travellers and dependants on your policy;
- the ages of the adult travellers and dependants on your policy;
- destinations you are travelling to;
- length of your trip;
- duration of your pre-trip cancellation cover (the more cancellation cover you need and the longer you buy in advance, the more it usually costs);
- the cancellation cover limit you choose;
- the excess you choose; and
- any additional Optional Extras you choose.

The premium also takes into account any discounts that may apply and any obligation to pay any relevant charges, taxes or duties such as stamp duty and GST, if applicable.

Cancelling your policy

Cooling-off period

You have a 14-day cooling-off period once you buy your policy. If you decide that this policy is not right for you, you may cancel it within 14 days of purchasing your policy.

We will give you a full refund, provided:

- you have not started your trip; and
- you do not want to make a claim under your policy; and
- you do not want to exercise any other right under your policy.

In that case, your policy will be cancelled from the date the policy was issued, which means it will be as if you had no cover at all.

Cancellation after the cooling-off period

If you wish to cancel your policy more than 14 days after you purchased your policy and:

- you have not started your trip; and
- you do not want to make a claim under your policy; and

- you do not want to exercise any other right under your policy,

we will refund you 60% of the premium you paid. In this case, your policy will be cancelled from the date the cancellation is processed.

When we may cancel your policy

We may cancel your policy where permitted by and in accordance with the law. For example, we may be entitled to cancel your policy if you:

- do not comply with the policy terms and conditions; or
- do not pay your premium as agreed; or
- make a fraudulent or exaggerated claim; or
- did not comply with your duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation.

In all cases of cancellation, Open may retain fees it charges you (such as a policy arrangement fee), subject to the terms set out in your Certificate of Insurance. If a policy arrangement fee is charged, it is not refundable if the policy is cancelled outside of the cooling-off period or if you have started your trip. Please see the FSG section of this document for more information.
